PROCESSES AND STRATEGIES OF NEGOTIATION

OPM 452 | B.Sc. Elective (A)

Endowed Chair of Procurement Area Operations Management

B.Sc. program | Elective (A) OPM 452 "Processes and Strategies of Negotiation"

MOTIVATION

- Negotiations occur in all areas of business (and life): Politicians negotiate laws, employees negotiate salaries, family members negotiate holiday destinations... and sales and procurement people negotiate business deals.
- The ability to structure, plan, and manage negotiation situations is critical to succeed in business (and beyond).

CONTENT

- OPM 452 is recommended for anyone seeking an introduction to and a broad overview of negotiation theory and practice.
- Teaching consists of integrated lectures, cases, simulations, and guest lecture(s).
- The module is not intended as a "training camp" for bargaining skills.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

The main objective is to understand the economic and psychological mechanisms underlying negotiations and to learn how to apply this knowledge. Starting from the basic concepts, participants will learn how to:

- ... to strategically analyze negotiation situations and develop corresponding negotiation playbooks.
- ... identify barriers and opportunities to creating and claiming value in negotiations.
- ... to avoid negotiation "sand traps" and take advantage of bargaining tactics to influence negotiation counterparts.

ORGANIZATION

- The module is organized as a compact course consisting of four blocks lectured on four consecutives Fridays in the first half of the spring semester.
- Lecture dates are (all Fridays, 08:30 13:30 o'clock):
 - February-24, 2023
 - March-03, 2023
 - March-10, 2023
 - March-17, 2023
- The exam is scheduled for Friday, March-31, 2023 (tentatively).
