Meet Luisa

If you had to sum up your experience
so far in one sentence, what would it be?

“

It's a place where I'm growing fast, with the best possible support around me. **”

What skills have you already developed or are you currently developing that you didn't expect?

“

Beyond the obvious research and analytical skills, I've had to get comfortable navigating ambiguity, which has changed me as well as my way of thinking.

What kinds of questions are you currently curious about, and why do they excite you?

I'm curious how AI is reshaping decision-making, community structures, and value creation. What excites me is that it sits at the intersection of so many fields and provides real organizational and societal value.

What are you most excited to explore or work on next?

“

I'm excited about my research, but just as much about the people around it — students, because it's rewarding to work with them, and other researchers, because it gives me energy to keep pushing my own projects forward.

What makes the atmosphere at the chair special in everyday work?

The atmosphere here comes from everyone sharing the same motivation and curiosity, which turns the everyday work into something we're doing together, not just doing alongside each other. ”

Why does this feel like the right place to grow as a PhD student?

For me, it's the combination — a great team, genuinely interesting topics, and close contact with Prof. Jens Förderer, colleagues, and students that gives me the kind of opportunities I wouldn't find elsewhere.
