There should be no text here, if section is further divided into subsection – an overview of the subsections is allowed, however.

2.1 New Subsection

There should be no text here, if section is further divided into subsection – an overview of the subsections is allowed, however.

2.1.1 First Subsubsection

Here goes the content, if no further division into subsections follows. For a seminar of master thesis, you should restrict yourself to (at most) three levels of sections.

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consetetur¹ sadipscing elitr, sed diam nonumy eirmod tempor invidunt ut labore et dolore magna aliquyam erat, sed diam voluptua. At vero eos et accusam et justo duo dolores et ea rebum. Stet clita kasd gubergren, no sea takimata sanctus est Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet.

2.1.2 Second Subsubsection

Subsections only make sense if there are at least two of them!

 Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consetetur sadipscing elitr, sed diam nonumy eirmod tempor invidunt ut labore et dolore magna aliquyam erat, sed diam voluptua. At vero eos et accusam et justo duo dolores et ea rebum. Stet clita kasd gubergren, no sea takimata sanctus est Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet.

2.2 Second Subsection

Subsections only make sense if there are at least two of them!

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consetetur sadipscing elitr, sed diam nonumy eirmod tempor invidunt ut labore et dolore magna aliquyam erat, sed diam voluptua. At vero eos et accusam et justo duo dolores et ea rebum. Stet clita kasd gubergren, no sea takimata sanctus est Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet.

There should be a reference to every figure in the thesis, for example, see Figure 1. Also, each table should be referred to, see Table 1 on page 4.

Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet, consetetur sadipscing elitr, sed diam nonumy eirmod tempor invidunt ut labore et dolore magna aliquyam erat, sed diam voluptua. At vero eos et accusam et justo duo dolores et ea rebum. Stet clita kasd gubergren, no sea takimata sanctus est Lorem ipsum dolor sit amet (Berry et al. (2005), p. 15-16).

Mathematical environments:

There are two mathematical environments: The in-line environment, e.g., $\sum_{n=0}^{\infty} n$, and the out-of-line environment:

$$\sum_{n=0}^{\infty} n$$

The latter can also be numbered:

$$\frac{23}{45} \int_{n=0}^{\infty} \quad (1)$$

Formulas can easily be cited, see, e.g., Equation (1), with or without brackets, see Equation 1. For multiple equations in a row, you can do this:

$$\frac{23}{45} + 24x_4 + 13x_5 = x + y \quad (2)$$

$$x = 25 + 12x_2 + 35x_{34} \quad (3)$$

The control sign for the alignment is the ampersand ($&$). As with the dollar sign ($) as well, if you want to use them in your text, you need to use a backslash (\) in your source code.

And then there are list of bullet points:

- first point

| Name | Email address | Signature |
|------|---------------|-----------|

Table 1: Name of the Table

Source: Slack et al. (2010), p. 14.

- second point

which can also be automatically numbered and cascaded

1. first item
 - (a) first subitem
 - (b) next subitem

2. next item

And finally, you're going to need some references to fill your bibliography. References can be made easily by using a BibTeX file (Stolletz and Helber (2004)). Citation style is similar to Chicago Manual of Style:

- If the author name is part of the sentence, simply give the year (and if applicable: page numbers) in brackets: Stolletz and Helber (2004, S. 1-2) is a great paper.
- If the author name is not part of the sentence, put the name and year (and if applicable: page numbers) in brackets: (Dethloff, 2001, S. 3-5).
- A list with multiple sources is easy (Rieck et al., 2007; Weiss et al., 2015).
- With page numbers, it is slightly more complicated (Dethloff, 2001, S. 1-3; Salema et al., 2008; Thanh et al., 2008).

Appendix

Program code

#include <iostream>

int main()
{
    std :: cout << "Hallo_Welt!" << std :: endl;
